

Important Notice

It is imperative that you inform your house hold insurer that you are a childminder, even if they are providing your childminding cover.

If you have become a Childminder since originally taking out your household insurance you must inform them of this change.